Re: Impact of the ALR
on Northern BC Land Owners

Spokespersons for the Society, Dan McLeod, Anne Clayton, and Elvin Gowman informed the Board that they have been working for the past two years to bring about changes to the Agricultural Land Reserve, (ALR) that they believe will be in the best interests of farmers and rural land owners in northeast BC. The group presented their findings which they feel substantiate their proposal for a five year moratorium on the ALR east of the Rockies, with a review at the end of four years, and if found to be working; then abolition. Since the first presentation of their review to the ALR Review Committee one year ago, they have made presentations to fifteen cabinet ministers, including former Premier Campbell and present Premier Clark.

Some points brought forward by the Society during the question and answer period were:

- the Society's goal is to encourage the Regional Board to pursue a delegation agreement with the ALC that will best serve the local electorate;
- they believe the price of land is being artificially driven up because of the ALR;
- they question the motivation behind ALC decisions;
- they commented on the regulations in BC versus those in Alberta, particularly where farmers in BC are not permitted to supplement their income by servicing industrial activities which are located on their land;
- they commented that the amount of ALR land in the southern part of the province has been reduced by 12 to 14%; even though the overall provincial statistics show an incremental increase since 1974.

The delegates closed by extending an invitation to the Directors to attend their next monthly meeting.
